BEST GROCERIES

Phone 4 C. H. Moore

Suppose, good housewife, you drop around and leave an order with the ladies of the Methodist Church at the Advertisers' Fair for a nice cake, cheap in everything but quality.

Mr. Womack of Hollow Rock arrived Monday to work in the local offices of the N. C. & St. L. in this city.

King Davis left Saturday for Nashville, where he will resume his studies at Vanderbilt University.

Read all ads in the paper and don't overlook the half page TUESDAY—big day.

Save your orders for flour, coffee, soda, baking powder and cakes for the Methodist Ladies' at the Advertisers' Fair at Dixie Grocery Co.'s old stand, October 5, 6 and 7.

The Fortnightly Book Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Milton Spradlin, Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

Mrs. Lillian Neighbors is in Union City.

Mr. B. G. HALE, Sr.,
Hickman, Kentucky.

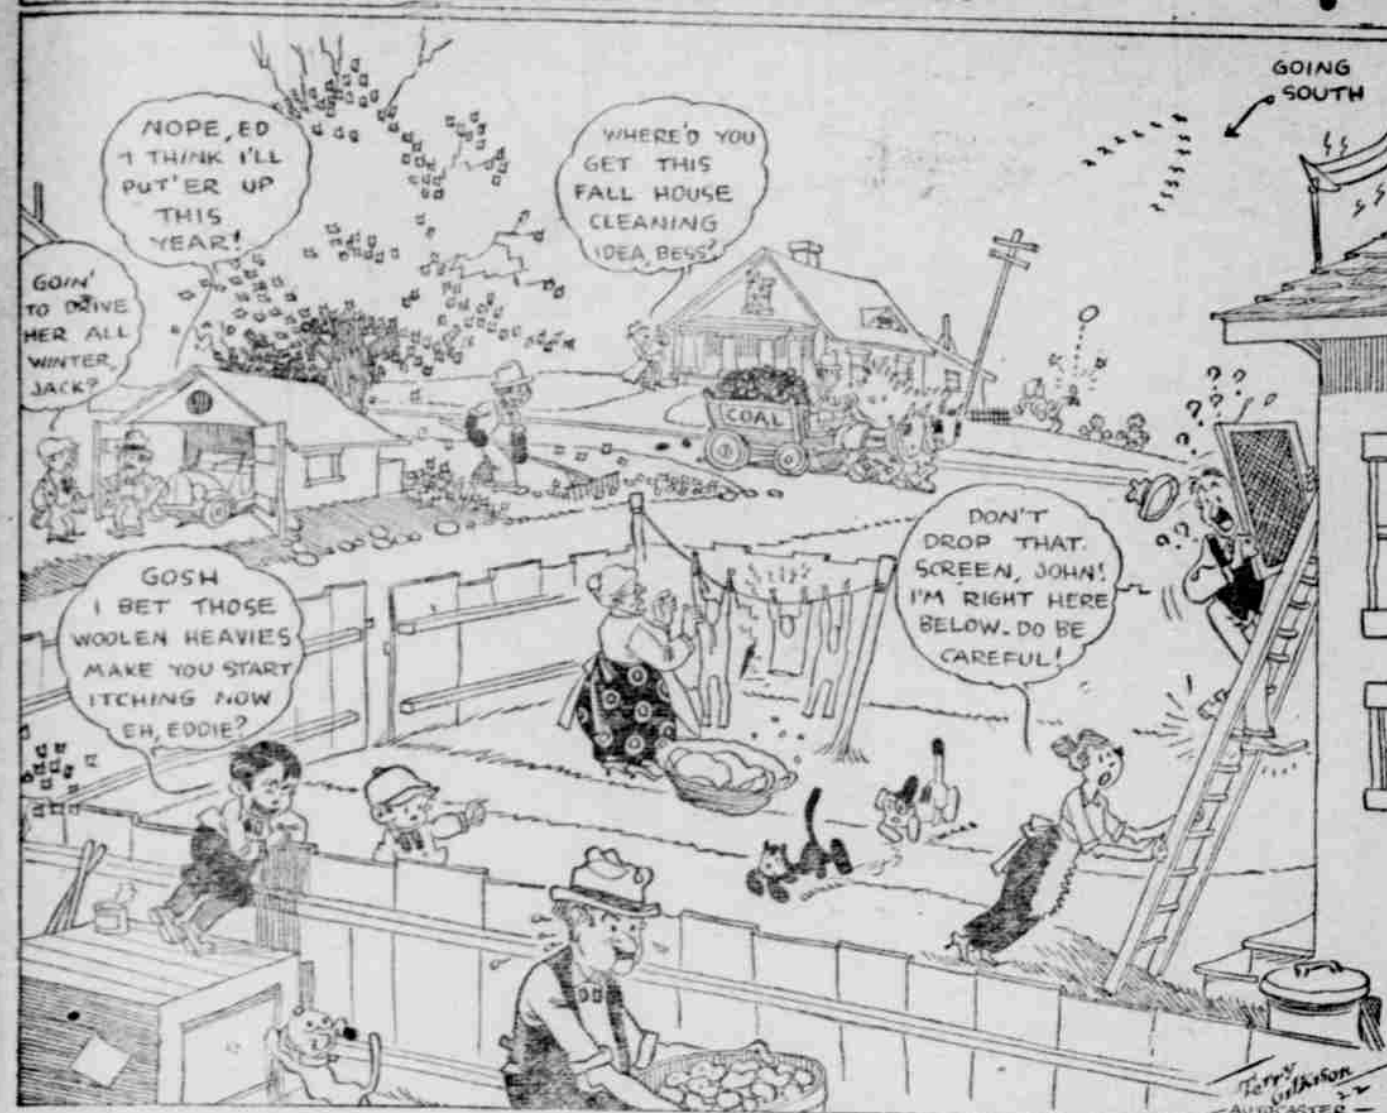

Dear Mr. Hale:—

We have received the samples of some of your cotton and find it to be the best ginned cotton that we have received this year.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT WILKINSON,
President.

—This cotton was ginned by the Planters Gin and shows that Fulton county produces the best cotton in this section and that the Planters Gin is equipped for good ginning—and does good ginning.

IT'S IN THE AIR

STEAMER CAPITOL COMING.

Stopping here only one night, Friday, September 29th, the Steamer Capitol of the Streckfus fleet, largest stern wheel excursion steamer on inland waters, will have a moonlight dancing excursion under the auspices of the B. P. O. E. Lodge No. 1294.

The big excursion palace is now on its way to New Orleans for the winter months, after having spent a record-breaking five months in the Northern Mississippi River district. Aside from being the largest steamer of its kind, the Capitol is also the most beautiful. Fashioned after the Colossal Capitol Theater of New York, the Steamer gives a striking appearance of one of the most wonderful sights on the river. Covered with electric lights, the six-deck ship is most beautiful in the evening.

Aboard the steamer will be found a huge ballroom, oriental in design, lighted by an interchangeable color system, well ventilated and presided over by the Capitol's Famous 10-Piece Syncopating Band of St. Louis, who were chosen to play on the huge steamer during the winter season at New Orleans.

In addition to the ballroom will be found ample space on the broad decks for a promenade, hundreds of lounge chairs in ideal spots for tea-a-letos or a rest on the smooth cool bosom of the river. Two large cafes in which an excellent cuisine can be obtained at a moderate price are also a part of the ship's equipment. Not only is the Capitol an amusement project, but it is the eighth wonder of the world and all who can should visit the Steamer when it arrives in the city.
